Section 17: Compiling a Table of Relationships (partner) (short list)

[The table created herein represents the Relationships Data Set (RDS), with one record per "recent" (since Summer 1995) relationship. There are as many (or as few) records as are appropriate to the respondent.]

Listing Partners

[Display:]

SCREEN01 The next part of the interview is concerned with any romantic relationships and sexual relationships you have had at any time since the summer of 1995. Include relationships that began more than six years ago if they continued at least until June 1995.

To keep track of things as you go through this section, please list only the first name, initials, or a nickname of your partner in each such relationship. As soon as we finish today's session, the list will be erased from the computer's memory in order to preserve your privacy.

Please press Enter.

SCREEN02 If you have been involved with the same person more than once, think of this as one relationship rather than as two or three relationships, and list the person only once.

Please be especially careful to list recent relationships, even those that may have been very short-term.

Type the name or initials of your first partner and then press Enter. Continue until all partners are listed. When you have no other partners to add, press Enter without typing in any information. If you have had no romantic or sexual relationships in the last six years, press the Enter key now without typing anything else.
