July 11 – July 12, 2022

The Rizzo Center,
Chapel Hill, North Carolina

Participant Directory

Add Health

The National Longitudinal Study of Adolescent to Adult Health

Participant Directory

Aiello, Allison

Columbia University
722 West 168th
New York, NY 10032
aea27@cumc.columbia.edu
Research Interests: Aging, Alzheimer's Disease, Cognitive Function, Infectious Diseases, Social Determinants

Akobirshoev, Ilhom

Brandeis University
415 South Street 02453
Waltham, MA 02453
ilhom@brandeis.edu
781-736-3774

Allison, Bianca

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
207 Bluefield Rd
Chapel Hill, NC 27517
bianca.allison@unchealth.unc.edu
315-391-5414

Research Interests: I am interested in using longitudinal data to better understand factors influencing contraception usage among adolescents and young adults. I plan to use this information to improve primary care service delivery related to adolescent sexual and reproductive health.

Angel, Bob

Carolina Population Center
154 Fort Jackson Rd 27560
Morrisville, NC 27560
raangel@email.unc.edu
919-475-6785
Research Interests: I am the Biospecimen Coordinator for the Add Health Study at Carolina Population Center

Baker, Garrett

Duke University
3743 SW Durham Dr, Apt 106
Durham, NC 27707
garrett.baker@duke.edu
215-360-9499
Research Interests: Generally, my Add Health research interests revolve around social inequality broadly. More specifically, I am interested in the consequences of incarceration and criminal justice system contact for families and children, as well as how social and educational contexts influence the life course trajectories of children.

Bakour, Chighaf

University of South Florida
13201 Bruce B. Downs Blvd
Tampa, FL 33612
cbakour@usf.edu
813-974-0993
Research Interests: Adverse childhood experiences, life course, sleep

Barry, Megan

The University of South Florida
Tampa, FL 33612
mbarry1@usf.edu
303-917-0698
Research Interests: I have worked with: the biomarkers from Waves IV and V, births to respondents reported at Wave V, variables related to sexual orientation and gender identity across waves, and many social determinants of health from across the five waves (neighborhood poverty, relationship status, demographics, etc.).

Boen, Courtney

The University of Pennsylvania, Department of Sociology, Population Studies Center, & Population Aging Research Center
232 McNeil Building 3718 Locust Walk
Philadelphia, PA 19104-6299

11 Arcola St, Apt 2
Jamaica Plain MA, 02130
tbragg@email.fielding.edu
480-720-1629
Research Interests: childhood stress exposure, subjective weathering, and Black mental health disparities

Brown, Shena

Clark Atlanta University
223 James P. Brawley Drive
Atlanta, GA 30314
sbrown@cau.edu
404-880-6781
Research Interests: Investigating racial and ethnic health disparities, particularly regarding mental health and substance use disorders and recovery among youth and emerging adults in various locations in the United States.

Bruefach, Tyler

Florida State University
636 W Call St, Room 276
Tallahassee, FL 32306
tbruefach@fsu.edu
917-838-4494
Research Interests: My research interrogates whether and how wellbeing at various stages of adulthood reflect early life contexts, statuses, and resources. I primarily examine social determinants of health and their relationships with mental and physical health. However, other work I've done identifies mechanisms of educational inequality among students with and without disabilities.

Research Interests: Sexual behavior; Intimate Partner Violence; LGBT health

Halvorson-Fried, Sarah

UNC Gillings School of Global Public Health, Department of Health Behavior, 135 Dauer Dr.
Chapel Hill, NC 27599
shalvorson-fried@unc.edu
207-735-3962

Research Interests: Contextual factors that influence youth health behavior (smoking, diet, physical activity) and continued behavior/related health outcomes in adulthood. Racialized, minoritized, and socioeconomic inequities in geographic contexts, health behaviors, and health trajectories.

Han, Bing

Purdue University
Office 327, 700 W State St
West Lafayette, IN 47907
han644@purdue.edu
765-409-5545

Research Interests: Gender Scaling; Health Behaviors/Outcomes; Childhood Experiences; Social Support

Hargrove, Taylor

UNC-CH, Carolina Population Center
123 West Franklin St.
Chapel Hill, NC 27616
thargrov@email.unc.edu
919-445-6913

Research Interests: My primary research areas of interest are racism and race, aging and the life course, and the social stratification of health. My program of research examines how and why social inequalities in health unfold across the life course, particularly by race/ethnicity, skin color, gender, and socioeconomic status. I am currently engaged in research that explores linkages among socio-geographic contexts, individual-level status characteristics, and biological measures of health in early adulthood.

Mullan Harris, Kathleen

University of North Carolina at Chapel H
123 W. Franklin Street
Chapel Hill, NC 27516
kathie_harris@unc.edu
919-824-3466

Research Interests: My Add Health research focuses broadly on social inequality and health with particular interests in health disparities, biodemography, sociogenomics, and life course and aging processes. I developed the integrative design in Add Health in the early 2000s to expand the collection of biological and genetic data for scientific study of developmental and health trajectories across the early life course, so much of my research uses those data.

Haydon, Abigail

UNC Chapel Hill
123 West Franklin Street, Suite 210
Chapel Hill, NC 27516
ahaydon@email.unc.edu
650-776-6060

Research Interests: Trajectories of sexual and reproductive health from adolescence to adulthood; fertility; health disparities

Hernandez, Stephanie

UNC Chapel Hill
100 CARRAWAY XING STE 1209
Chapel Hill, NC 27516
stephanie_hernandez@unc.edu
786-306-2165

Research Interests: My Add Health research interests are in health disparities among queer people of color.

Hill, Mary Jane

UNC
CB 8120
Chapel hill, NC
hill@unc.edu
919-967-3904

Research Interests: Management of AH data is my interest.

Hope, Elan

Policy Research Associates
202 N Becket Street
Cary, NC 27513
ehope@prainc.com
301-768-7751

Research Interests: I am most interested in racial inequities in mental and behavioral health outcomes. I am also interested in cognitive and familial risk and protective factors associated with mental health outcomes over time.

Hotz, V. Joseph

Duke University
Department of Economics
Durham, NC 27708
v.joseph.hotz@duke.edu
310-780-4689

Hummer, Robert

University of North Carolina - Chapel Hill
2201 Carolina Square, Carolina Population Center
Chapel Hill, NC 27516
rhummer@email.unc.edu
512-965-2419

Research Interests: As current Director of Add Health, I am most interested in designing the study and collecting data that will generate new scientific findings on life course health in the United States, with a key focus on health disparities and on multi-level explanations for health and health disparities.

Jackson, Caroline

UNC-Chapel Hill
123 West Franklin St
Chapel Hill, NC 27516
cjacks@email.unc.edu

Jacobs, Molly

University of Florida
1225 Center Drive
Gainesville, FL 32608
mollyjacobs@ufl.edu
352-224-6313

Research Interests: My research explores health disparities and the social determinants of health.

Jaynes, Shewit

Duke University
206 Snow Camp Drive
Cary, NC 27519
shewit.weldense@duke.edu
919-451-9239

Research Interests: I am interested in using the Add Health dataset for the dissertation. My research focuses on examining factors that influence risk for adverse perinatal outcomes and long-term health of Black women.

Jeong, Yeongmi

University of Georgia
300 Rogers Rd. Apt R304
Athens, GA 30605
yjeong0413@gmail.com
706-207-2188

Research Interests: I am interested in using genetic data (polygenic scores) of Add Health to examine the social-genetic effects. That is, I aim to explore the effect of the genetic makeup of individuals around us has impact on our own outcomes.

Jin, Yanhong

Rutgers University
55 Dudley Road
New Brunswick, NJ 08901
Yanhong.Jin@rutgers.edu
848-932-9139

Research Interests: Gene information and economic outcomes

338 W. Rivers
Greenville, NC 27858
johnstonc19@ecu.edu
806-239-7043

Research Interests: My research interest in the Add Health data are focused on how changes in ecological context (family structure, school, neighborhood, etc.) impact developmental trajectories into adolescent and young adult.

Joshua, Kaitlin

UNC Chapel Hill, Dept. of Sociology
155 Pauli Murray Hall, CB #3210
Chapel Hill, NC 27514
kjosua@unc.edu
601-942-9097

Research Interests: Reproductive Health, Social Determinants of Health

Karraker, Amelia

National Institute on Aging, National Institutes of Health 7201
Wisconsin Avenue
Bethesda, MD 20892
amelia.karraker@nih.gov
301-496-3131

Research Methods: Survey methods, health inequities, life course research, Alzheimer's disease and Alzheimer's disease related dementias

Kieu, Talia

UNC Gillings School of Public Health, Health Behavior
1105 NC-54, APT V3
Chapel Hill, NC 27514
tkieu@email.unc.edu
714-276-7599

Research Interests: I am interested in exploring the health priorities of LGBTQ+ older adults using the Add Health SOGI-SES data. More specifically, I am interested in studying how biomarkers of chronic stress, such as inflammation and immune function, are affected by social-environmental factors.

Knox, Krysta

University of Cincinnati
10871 Wengate Lane
Blue Ash, Ohio 45241
knoxks@mail.uc.edu
682-429-5855
