Regarding Publications & Presentations:

Please be aware that any data collected or produced by an Add Health Ancillary Study must be linked to the extant Add Health longitudinal data and released by Add Health staff to the community of Add Health users before any manuscripts, publications, abstracts or presentations derived from the Ancillary Study may be submitted for review. Only those Ancillary Studies that involve collection or use of Add Health biospecimens shall be granted limited exemption from this rule, subject to the terms and conditions of the Add Health Biospecimen Distribution Agreement.

Under the NIH Public Access Policy, investigators funded by the NIH have responsibility to submit or have submitted for them to the National Library of Medicine's PubMed Central an electronic version of their final, peer-reviewed manuscripts upon acceptance for publication to be made publicly available no later than 12 months after the official date of publication. Add Health does not accept responsibility to submit manuscripts derived from ancillary studies to PubMed Central on behalf of ancillary study investigators.
